

PLOT AGAINST LIFE OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Papers Found on Anarchists Give Information

FACTS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Concerted Uprising Over Europe Feared by Officials

Guards in the Royal Households all Over Europe Have Been Increased.

Bayonne, France, Sept. 25.—Evidence of an anarchistic plot against President Roosevelt on his forthcoming hunting trip in Africa, was made public today by the police authorities of a half dozen countries who are examining the Spanish anarchist, Cantrava, in an effort to connect him with the suspected plot against the life of King Alfonso of Spain. Papers found on two Italian anarchists arrested at Sessa, Switzerland, contained definite information on Roosevelt's African trip.

The papers found contained plans of autumnal trips of nearly all of the European rulers and police officials of France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Spain and Austria-Hungary, suspect that a concerted uprising all over Europe is well under way. The plot against Alfonso's life was timed for tomorrow during his trip to Biarritz. As the result of the disclosure the guards in nearly every royal household in Europe have been increased.

The train is said to have gone into the ditch after the collision.

sler of Wheeling and United States Marshal Williams last evening arrested Minnie Nethaway, alias Miller, Fred Miller and John Miller, wanted at Hillsdale, Mich., for grand larceny and counterfeiting. When arrested they had molds for making nickels and small coins. All of them had small sums of bogus money which they had been circulating.

Federal officers will take them before the United States commissioner at Wheeling for hearing. All possessed a willingness to be taken back to Hillsdale.

CHOLERA EPIDEMIC

IN ST. PETERSBURG IS BEING CHECKED BY THE HEALTH AUTHORITIES.

Reported That There Has Been a Decrease of Twenty Per Cent. in New Cases.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 25.—For the first time since the cholera epidemic assumed alarming proportions, health authorities of St. Petersburg today issued a hopeful statement. Many dead are still unburied at the cemetery. About half those stricken are dying.

50 YEARS AT ANVIL

Delaware, Sept. 25.—John Null yesterday celebrated the 50th anniversary of his opening a blacksmith shop in this city. With the exception of four years spent in the Civil war he has been at the anvil continuously during this period. He celebrated the event by putting in a hard day's work.

WILBUR WRIGHT

Made Official Flight at Lemans, but Was Compelled to Descend—Will Fly This Evening.

Lemans, Sept. 25.—Wilbur Wright made his first official attempt today to meet the requirements of the French syndicate that contemplates buying his machine. He sent the craft up in the air in a stiff wind and after a flight of 36 minutes and 14 seconds, the wind became so strong as to disturb the petrol in the reservoir and he was forced to alight. Wright immediately set to work to modify the reservoir so that the wind cannot displace the petrol. He expects to make an official flight this evening.

HASKELL

Summoned Before The Leaders at Chicago

WILL ALSO MEET BRYAN

Roosevelt to be Shown Up And "Put Upon The Pan"

Fight Will be Made Upon Chief Executive Who Foisted Taft Upon His Party.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Governor C. N. Haskell of Oklahoma is speeding to Chicago from his home in Guthrie, summoned by the Democratic campaign managers for a trial on the Hearst-Roosevelt charges before the executive committee and William J. Bryan on Saturday morning.

That is to be the first step in a series of sensational developments planned by the Democratic generals, which is calculated to culminate in an exposition that will jar the whole country.

For it has been determined tentatively that, however the Haskell case is disposed of, President Roosevelt must be "shown up."

Among other things it is planned to show: That President Roosevelt accepted $250,000 from E. H. Harriman for his campaign work four years ago; That George Bruce Cortelyou "held up" the big corporate chiefs of New York for large funds to be employed in securing the election of Mr. Roosevelt four years ago;

That the life insurance investigation further showed a "community of interests" between the Washington Government and the financial kings involved by those disclosures.

That "yellow dog" funds were inseparably mingled with campaign contributions in the interest of the Republican national ticket in 1904.

That Coleman Dupont, head of the so-called Powder combine, against which the Federal authorities are now proceeding has been "sentenced to serve 90 days on the Republican National Executive committee."

That President Roosevelt has now joined hands with William Randolph Hearst in a joint attack on the Democratic leaders and that this is the same Hearst whom Elihu Root openly charged "with the approval of the President," abetted the assassination of President McKinley.

That George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National committee, is the chief of "malefactors."

That the Standard Oil company officials and heads of other corporations in the New York could corroborate all the charges made respecting the campaign fund four years ago if they would permit an inspection of their private books.

In short, it is the idea that President Roosevelt can be impeached, and that, despite the dignity usually associated with the high office of president, it should be attempted as a matter of justice to Mr. Bryan.

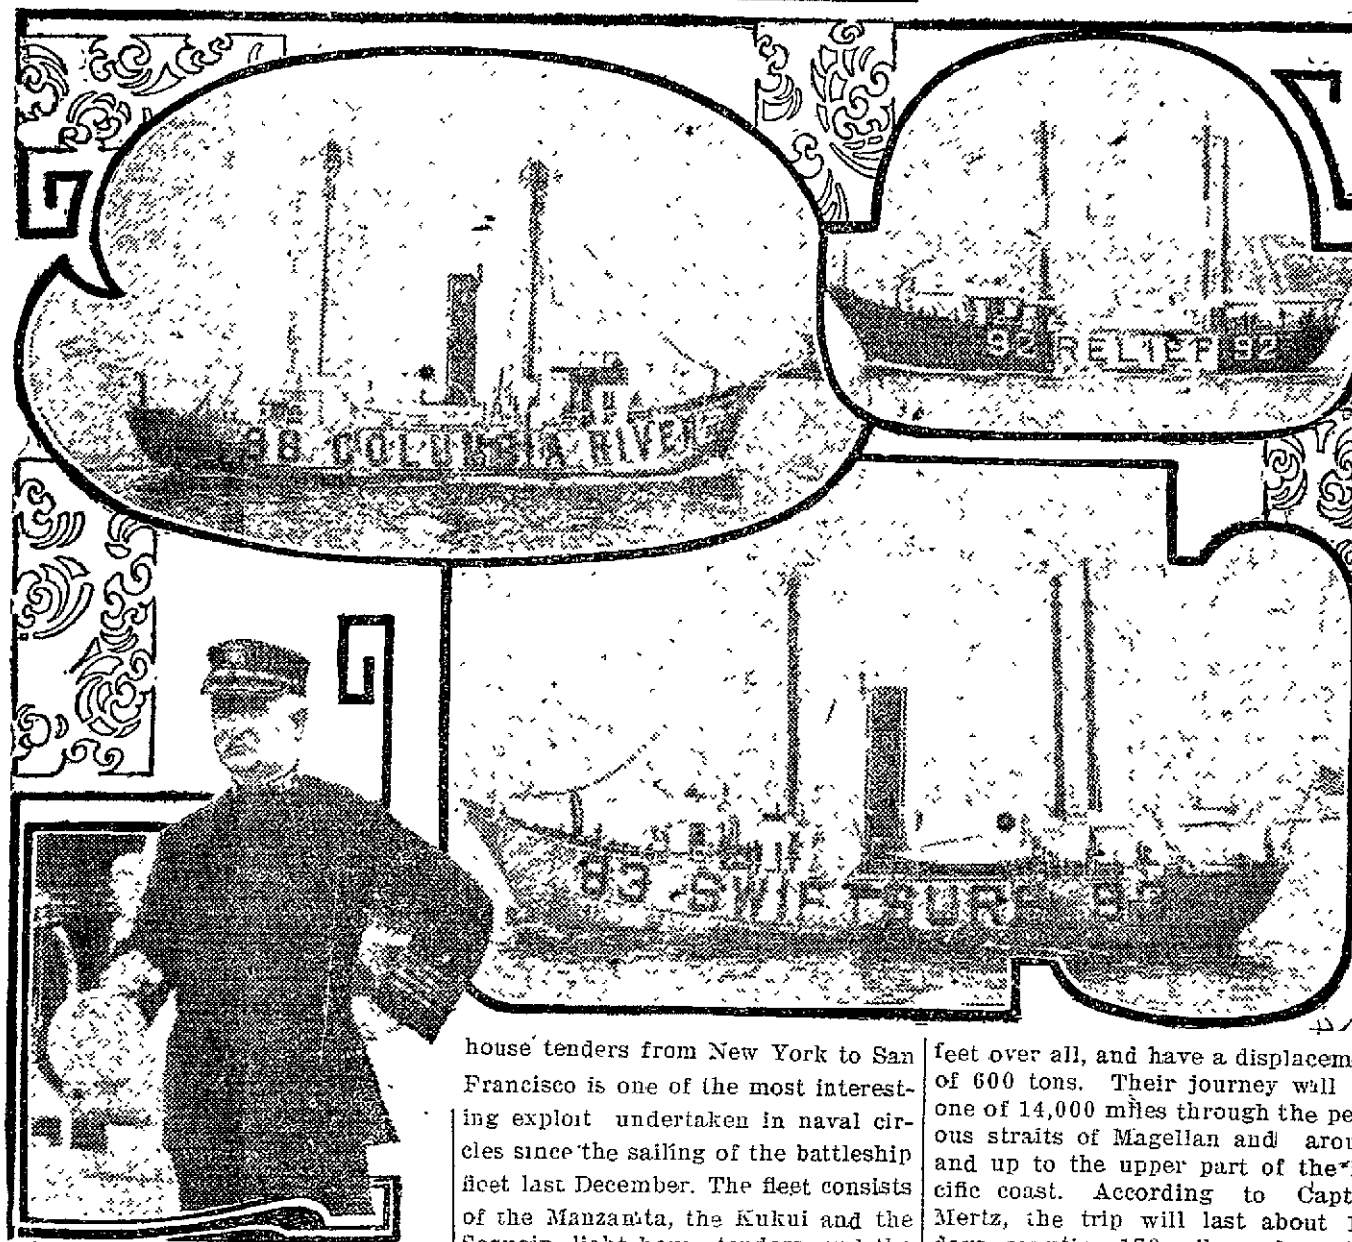

The fight then, as the Democratic warriors claim to view it, is no longer between Mr. Bryan and Mr. Taft, but between Mr. Roosevelt and the whole Democratic party as now constituted. The President, they go on to say, has invited this situation, and, more than that, has forced it up on the Democrats.

The Democratic advisers who are already in Chicago for the conference Saturday believe that nothing short of this scheme of retaliation on the President will satisfy the general public. If it should be determined Saturday to go ahead, to cut loose from all considerations of mere expediency, and to ignore precautionary skirmishing for one grand charge on the White House, a statement of the change of plans probably will be given to the public at once.

WILL NOT RESIGN.

CAPTAIN MERTZ, U. S. N., AND LIGHTSHIPS HE IS TAKING ON 14,000 MILE VOYAGE.

CAPT. ALBERT T. MERTZ

New York, Sept. 25.—The voyage of Captain Albert T. Mertz with a flotilla of three lightships and three light house tenders from New York to San Francisco is one of the most interesting exploits undertaken in naval circles since the sailing of the battleship fleet last December. The fleet consists of the Manzanita, the Kukui and the Sequoia, light house tenders, and the Swiftsure No. 93, the Relief No. 92, and the Columbia River No. 88, all steam lightships. The tenders are 190 over all, with a beam of 30 feet and a total displacement of only 900 tons. The lightships are even smaller, 130 feet over all, and have a displacement of 600 tons. Their journey will be one of 14,000 miles through the perilous straits of Magellan and around and up to the upper part of the Pacific coast. According to Captain Mertz, the trip will last about 115 days, counting 170 miles a day while running and making allowances for stops and bad weather. Of the three tenders the Manzanita is the flagship and will lead the way until an Francisco is reached and then will go on duty in the Portland district.

FORAKER TO FLY TAFT AND ROOSEVELT AND SHOW LATTER CAUSED THE PANIC

CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.—Senator Foraker is today preparing a statement answering the strictures cast upon him by President Roosevelt. His statement which will not be released until Saturday, will be 8,000 words in length and will fly Roosevelt and Taft. A close personal friend of Senator Foraker, says the senator will take up his entire career as a lawyer for the Standard Oil company and attempt to show that his employment was legal and honorable. He will defend his actions in the Brownsville affair, and the rate bill question, and attack the records of both Taft and Roosevelt. He will declare that Roosevelt is responsible for the panic. He will charge that Taft is as friendly with trust magnates as he is.

GRAND DEMONSTRATION TO DEMOCRATIC LEADER

Cincinnati, Sept. 25.—Twelve years Commoner to the home of his Republican opponent. Accompanied by he is to seeing great crowds, Mr. Bryan himself was amazed and thought that he saw in the demonstration a mighty wave which would sweep this Republican city into the Democratic column.

Mr. Bryan literally had to fight his way to the hall. When he was recognized there was a scene of frenzy that lasted 10 minutes, and his appearance on the stage was the signal for a renewal of the torrent of cheers and waving of handkerchiefs, in which both sexes joined. Many prominent Democrats had seats on the stage, and among them were hundreds who had not supported him in former campaigns.

The ovation given Judge Harmon was only second to that accorded Mr. Bryan. He was cheered for several in taking chances to welcome the sign as treasurer of the Democratic national committee according to his positive declaration here today while en route to Chicago.

PRINCE

Has Left Peking on Trip Around the World.

LETTER FROM EMPEROR

Thanks People of United States for Remission Of Boxer Indemnity

Is Loaded With Gifts for President's Family and Number of American Officials.

Peking, Sept. 25.—Tang Shao Yi left here Thursday on his much heralded trip around the world. He is accompanied by Chung Men Yow, who is to succeed Wu Ting Fang as Chinese minister at Washington. This change in office probably will take place in December. Wu Ting Fang will receive Tang Shao Yi on his arrival at the American capital after which he will retire from his post as minister.

Tang Shao Yi is bearing a letter to the people of the United States from the hand of the emperor of China, thanking them for the remission of a portion of the "Boxer" indemnity by the Washington government. From America he will continue his travels to Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and home through Siberia. Tang Shao Yi is taking with him a number of valuable presents for American officials. These included 10 ancient porcelains, relics of the Manchu conquest, taken from the palace of the present ruling family at Mukden, and other valuable porcelains and jades obtained in the Peking markets.

The dowager empress is sending special presents to President Roosevelt, as well as several valuable jades to Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, the President's daughter, in remembrance of Mrs. Longworth's visit to Peking in 1905. The dowager empress recently presented a rare Yungching vase to the Smithsonian Institution in acknowledgment of the restoration by the United States of an ancestral table of the Peking family that was looted from the regime in 1900.

The gifts being sent out by Tang Shao Yi—they are so numerous that several cars are required for their transportation—are an expression of the national sense of obligation for the remission by America of part of the "Boxer" indemnity.

The mission is composed of Tang Shao Yi, his chief, Prince Tsai Fu, second son of Prince Kwai, and a prince of the fourth grade, Chung Men Yow and Yung Kwai, who were at one times in the diplomatic service at Washington, and 18 secretaries who represent various government boards, but especially the department of public works, agriculture and communications. With it go 15 Chinese students who are to enter American colleges.

The mission of Tang Shao Yi is replete with political possibilities and its outcome is being regarded with great interest by some of the European powers interested in Manchuria. Efforts have been made to discredit it, but the send off given the envoy indicates that no matter what is thought of his purposes, personally he is regarded as an able diplomat.

DUPONT

Washington, Sept. 25.—It was announced at the White House today that the President had been informed several days ago that T. Coleman Dupont, director of the speakers' bureau of the Republican national campaign, contemplated resigning from that position. Official announcement of his actual retirement is expected shortly. Dupont has been under fire as one of the heads of the powder trust, which the government is prosecuting.

OLD VETERANS WELCOMED BY THE MAYOR

Closing Exercises of Reminon of the Seventy-Sixth Regiment Were Well Attended.

Thursday afternoon saw the closing exercises of one of the most successful and enjoyable reunions ever held by this famous old regiment. There was a big attendance, not only of the old veterans but of the citizens of Newark in general and G. A. R. hall was crowded to its utmost capacity.

The afternoon exercises were opened by an address of welcome by Mayor Herbert Atherton. The Mayor said that it always gave him extreme pleasure to mingle and talk with the old soldiers, especially with the members of the Seventy-sixth regiment. He extended a hearty greeting to them and turned over the key of the city to them.

The address of welcome was responded to by Col. C. H. Kibler, the president of the association, who on behalf of the old comrades, thanked the mayor for his courtesy.

The program, as printed in Thursday's Advocate, was then carried out with the exception of several changes that had been made on account of the absence of those taking part in the exercises. The program of exercises was interspersed with a number of excellent selections by Prof. Flora, with piano accompaniment, for which Prof. Flora received a vote of thanks.

During the afternoon proceedings Mrs. David Davis of Conesville, O. was made an honorary member of the Seventy-sixth regiment association.

At the conclusion of the exercises

In the hall the old veterans formed in line and with flags flying, paraded around the public square to martial music furnished by the old soldiers' drum corps. Although some of the comrades were feeble with age, they held their heads erect and marched with the enthusiasm of youth. It was a most pathetic sight. This little remnant of the full regiment of the youth of Licking county who went to the front in the dark days, told a story more eloquent than words. And the tattered flag, whenever you see Old Glory going by as it did on Thursday afternoon, sheltering under its historic folds the veterans of one of the bloodiest wars in the knowledge of man, salute it. Take your hat off and stand uncovered until the colors have passed you. It is the most pleasing and fitting tribute you, as a private citizen, can pay the flag of our country, and the men who fought so valiantly under it. Every time you see the flag it should make you thrill with the splendid history of our country written plainly on it. The stars denoting a union of many states, one indivisible, made so by the efforts of the grizzled veterans, who marched beneath them Thursday, half a century ago when in the fullness of their youth they waded through oceans of blood upon the battlefields in the Southland that you might enjoy the fruits and peace of a united nation. More, too, the grand old flag tells the story of our material advancement as star after star is added in token of the admission of some territory to the union as a full fledged state. All hail to Old Glory.

At the conclusion of the parade the old soldiers' drum corps, headed by Captain John Hiser, visited the Advocate, and rendered several old-time war selections, which was greatly appreciated.

Among the most interesting things in connection with the reunion of the old Seventy-sixth regiment held in this city on Thursday, was the fact that among those who attended the reunion were two brothers, one of whom had not met his brother or seen his mother who still lives in Zanesville for 52 years. Stephen Shipman, while in the city Thursday said that his home is in Webster, Ill., that he is 82 years old. He had been on a visit to his brother, Zenas Shipman, of Bailey's Mills, and while there had, with his brother, visited their mother Mrs. Catherine Foley, at the old home in Norwich. Stephen was born and raised in Norwich. The Zanesville Signal says:

Returning to Zanesville after an absence of 52 years, Stephen Shipman, 82 years old, now a retired machanic of Webster, Ill., spent Thursday evening with his nephew, Geo. L. Foley, on North Third street.

Strange buildings, streets and faces and strange surroundings in general greeted his eyes, once familiar to all in Zanesville. With tips apart, Mr. Shipman viewed the sights as he strolled about the city. To those who accompanied him he related the fact that at the time he left this city the B. & O. railroad had not yet entered the city, and that not one of the buildings that now grace the principal streets of the city appeared familiar to him.

FOREST FIRES IN VICINITY OF THIS CITY

Twenty-Eight Acres of Timber Land Burned—Injured While on Way to Fight Flames.

Several forest fires have been reported from different parts of the county during the past few days, and the damage done is already considerable. Thursday afternoon fire started in the old Hartman woods, five miles northwest of the city in the Sharon Valley. Already 28 acres of fine timber has been burned, and the fire is still raging.

That morning, Forest Fleming, who lives in the neighborhood, started to work on a steep hill on his property, and lost control of the wheel. He was thrown over the handle bar and struck the ground on his face. His cheek was torn loose from the jaw bone, and required 27 stitches to close the wound. Dr. Carl Evans of this city was the attending physician.

LITTLE DUTCH BONNETS AT THE BON TON

Those quaint little Dutch bonnets for the dear little tots appealed to every mother as she went in to look at the opening display of fall hats at Mrs. Kear's at the Bon Ton Millinery store. They come in every color in velvet and silk. When we raised our gaze to the hats for big folks—the Pocahontas bands and wings and feathers fairly made us think we'd gone back to the days of the real Pocahontas. But the maiden of today will be just as captivated in these. There are the stunning director hats, stylish combinations of green and blue, the big black hats and white hats and the large buckles, and last but not least, the satin derby—with feathers as trimmings.

Every person has a desire to share in the increase of wealth but many want greater prosperity than is offered by the rate of interest paid by the savings banks. The newspapers carry many schemes that promise great returns from few dollars invested, which influence the small saver to withdraw his earnings from the banks to invest. We advise caution on the part of all who contemplate such a move. There are only a few exceptional cases where small sums are invested safely, and which pay more than a reasonable interest return. The bank is a convenient place for keeping your savings; it is a place for funds and the interest rate is consistent with safety. Your money earns a stated amount of interest; this is paid at regular times. The bank stands behind the guarantee of 4 per cent interest.

There will be a test of a portion of the new pipe line, Friday afternoon, in the vicinity of North and Leroy streets. It is now estimated that 17,000 feet of pipe have been laid by the York Construction company, and settlement will probably be made on it Saturday. So far the company has been at work about a month and since the arrival of the full equipment, two weeks ago, an average of 1,000 feet a day has been laid.

The matter has been under discussion for some time. Mr. Fred Evans, the real estate men, has volunteered to uniform the boys, supplying them with one of the handsomest uniforms procurable. Mr. Frank Keenen for many years a member of the celebrated Loughman drum corps of the First Ridge, has agreed to organize the corps and drill the boys. When the corps turns out at the state encampment to be held here next year it will create a sensation.

Fire Department Run.
An alarm of fire sent in from Box 2 about 12:30 o'clock Friday morning, called the Central truck and the East End company to a house on South Buena Vista street, owned by Wm. Wehrle. Mr. William Ashbrook, father of Congressman Wm. A. Ashbrook and of Mr. Ashbrook of Granville, and who is nearly 85 years of age, had a narrow escape from burning at his home in Johnstown. Judge Brister Honored.
At the big Bryan meeting at Columbus Wednesday one of our prominent Democrats was honored. Judge E. M. P. Brister was sitting on the stage at the meeting of the Traveling Men's Bryan league which Mr. Bryan was to address at 3:30 o'clock. The large audience became impatient at the late arrival of Mr. Bryan, who was speaking at another place, and called for the Hon. L. B. Houck, of Mt. Vernon, to speak. Mr. Houck, for some reason did not respond. Judge Brister was called out and made a brief and pertinent speech, that was heartily applauded. Among other things Judge Brister told the traveling men that the most encouraging of the many encouraging signs of the campaign was that so many traveling men were in line for Mr. Bryan, and were predicting his victory. Mr. Bryan later addressed the large audience.

Republicans are predicting that a great panic will be the result of Bryan's election, and yet for nearly a year we have been in the midst of a widespread industrial depression which arose from a panic under a Republican administration, and no end of that deplorable condition is in sight.

CAN TEMPERANCE TALK SHIELD ROTTENNESS?

One thing which should be fully understood by the voters of Ohio is that there is no plausible ground on which the temperance question can be made an issue in the state campaign. The legislature made that a local issue to each county when it passed the county option law. Advocates of county option are exceedingly anxious to secure signatures to petitions and to obtain votes for making a county "dry" without drawing a partisan line between the voters. This is true because local option elections have been petitioned for or are being petitioned for in Republican counties and in Democratic counties. It stands to reason that the county option campaign cannot assume a Republican attitude in Republican counties and a Democratic attitude in Democratic counties at the same time. On what grounds then, can the voter be solicited to vote for county option in the county on a non-partisan basis and be mortgaged to deliver his vote to a partisan candidate for governor? How many Democrats will be fooled by such tactics? If they will reflect a moment they will see that local option cannot be a non-partisan question in the county and a party question in the state at the same time without deceiving somebody. If the deception succeeds, those who are deceived will quickly realize that they have been duped into delivering their votes to keep in office a governor who publicly boasts that he has never voted for a Democrat for any office, national, state or county in his life, and who is talking "temperance" in this campaign to shield rottenness in the state house which he has used his official power to protect instead of to expose and punish as the law expects the governor to do.

Doesn't the Anti-Saloon league ask and urge Democrats to vote for county option in the counties? Does the Anti-Saloon League seek to make county option a partisan issue in the counties? If such precaution is taken to prevent county option being made a party issue in the counties is there any reason why Democrats should permit themselves to be drawn into the partisan purpose to make it a party issue in the state?

Prospects for a Democratic victory in Ohio were never brighter. The only phase of the situation which confronts the Democratic voters of Ohio now is whether they will fritter away the opportunity by walking into a pitfall placed in their way in the form of a local and non-partisan question.

As for Ohio, a Democratic Legislature will not re-elect Senator Foraker and a Republican Legislature dare not.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

Sun sets 5:43, rises 5:47; moon sets 6:14 p. m.; moon's age 1 day.

THE SAME ROOSEVELT

(New York World)

The Theodore Roosevelt who bursts forth in virtuous denunciation of Senator Foraker and the Standard Oil company is the same Theodore Roosevelt who summoned Edward H. Harriman to the White House shortly before the 1904 election and encouraged Harriman to raise a $250,000 campaign funds which could be used only to corrupt voters.

He is the same Theodore Roosevelt who made George B. Cortelyou Chairman of the Republican National Committee in 1904, thus setting his chief corporation inquisitor to the task of collecting campaign tribute from the corporations subject to Federal investigation.

He is the same Theodore Roosevelt whose 1904 campaign was financed in part by life insurance contributions filched from the policy-holders.

He is the same Theodore Roosevelt who made Elihu Root, Thomas F. Ryan's attorney, Secretary of State in his Cabinet.

He is the same Theodore Roosevelt who made J. Pierpont Morgan's partner, Robert Bacon Assistant Secretary of State.

He is the same Theodore Roosevelt who personally licensed the Steel Trust to acquire the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company regardless of the Sherman law.

He is the same Theodore Roosevelt who commended the reactionary corporation platform adopted by the Chicago Convention and gladly accepted James S. Sherman as the Republican candidate for Vice-President.

Mr. Roosevelt is greatly scandalized by Senator Foraker's unseemly relations with the Standard Oil Company; but what if Foraker had been a supporter of My Policies? Would the President have promptly repudiated him, or would the same mantle of Executive charity have been thrown over Joseph Benson Foraker that was once thrown over Paul Morton after that gentleman had been prosecuted for granting railroad rebates.

GOVERNOR'S POOR EYESIGHT.

Governor Harris has had another contortion on the temperance issue which he is to "bang away" at during the campaign.

He charges that the liquor interests have raised an "enormous corruption fund" which he puts at $900,000, to defeat him, and repeats the false charge of an alliance between the Democratic party and the saloons. It is not surprising that the Governor, who couldn't see corruption right under his nose in the state house, is beginning to "see things" to frighten him in a campaign.

The governor does not care that this alleged "enormous corruption fund" is to be turned over to the Democratic campaign management because he knows better, although he seeks to convey that impression. The governor is not fair enough to admit that whatever funds the Personal Liberty League is raising it is using to carry on its campaign in county option contests, just as the Anti-Saloon League is using its funds to carry county option elections.

Such subterfuge by Governor Harris will not answer the manly and explicit public statement made by Judge Harmon that if elected governor he will enforce ALL the laws, and that he will not be dictated to by either the Personal Liberty League or the Anti-Saloon League.

Governor Harris, who has not enforced any laws, seems to have no better eyesight in a campaign than he had as governor last winter, when a committee of the legislature revealed a loss of over $30,000 to the state in interest on public funds, and this loss to the state was graft for certain state officers and their deputies. The governor did not trouble himself to see how such funds were being handled, as the law requires him to do.

Evidently the governor expects the people of Ohio to be as blind to his campaign blandishments as he was last winter to his official duties.

President Roosevelt's distinction between good and bad citizens is quite as hazy as his attempted definition of good and bad trusts.

Roosevelt vastly mistakes in imagining that his crude notions of a limited monarchy have made such progress in this land that he can dictate to the American people their choice of a successor and heir to the Presidential office.

Representative Lloyd Shows How the Congress Gave Railroads That Sum Improperly.

Representative James T. Lloyd, of Missouri, chairman of the Democratic national congressional committee, on March 10, 1908, exposed the flagrant theft of the people's money through the unfair weighing of mails when official tests were made to determine what compensation the railroads should receive. He said:

"Mr. Chairman, in delivering my address a few days since on postal conditions, in discussing the interpretation of the law as to the weighing of the mail, I failed to state the law on the subject, and I wish to do so now: 'The average weight to be ascertained, in every case, by the actual weighing of the mails for such a number of successive working days, not less than thirty, at such times after June 30, 1873, and not less frequently than once in every four years.'

"Later the time was changed to ninety days. Otherwise the law has not been changed to this date.

"Until March 2, 1907, the department required the mail to be weighed for ninety days. Sunday was not considered, so that the weighing covered a period of one hundred and five days instead of ninety successive days. In other words, working days were construed to mean week days. Postmaster General Cortelyou changed this interpretation which had been accepted as correct for over thirty years and issued the following order as his construction of the law:

"That when the weight of mail is taken on railroad routes, the whole number of days the mails are weighed shall be used as a divisor for obtaining the average weight per day."

"This required in effect, that, instead of dividing the number of working or week days in the weighing period, the divisor should be the number of days on which mail was actually carried during the period. If it was weighed one hundred and five days, the divisor to obtain the daily weight was one hundred and five. If the mail was not carried on Sunday, the divisor would be ninety. This, as you can readily see, would give less compensation for carrying the full week than for six days, for the accumulated mail would be practically the same whether carried in six days or in seven.

"The present postmaster general, seeing this predicament, issued another order of construction, known as 'order 412,' which is as follows:

"That when the weight of mail is taken on railroad routes the whole number of days included in the weighing period shall be used as a divisor for obtaining the average weight per day."

"If the construction up to last year was right, then there has been with held from the railroads this year over $1,700,000 that is theirs under the law. If the present construction is the proper one, the railroads have received over $70,000,000 since 1880 that belongs to the people; so that whichever view is sustained money has been wrongfully withheld through the post-office department."

"WHERE DID YOU GET IT?"

"Uncle Joe" Invites Demand That He Show Where He Got His Wealth.

Speaker Cannon intimated that Mr. Bryan had become a millionaire. The speaker was speaking in his home town, Danville, Ill.

The following day Mr. Bryan, speaking also in Mr. Cannon's home district, opened his ledger to the gaze of the American people and showed that he is worth approximately $150,000.

Having thus accepted Speaker Cannon's challenge to "fess up," Mr. Bryan demanded, in return that Speaker Cannon "switch on himself," that is, that Mr. Cannon also "fess up," and relate just how he got his wealth.

It is a perfectly proper thing, too, for some people have been worried that Mr. Bryan has succeeded by his great industry in upbuilding a competency for his old age.

Salary, Lectures and Books.

"It was from what I saved from my congressional salary, and gained from lectures and books and the profits of 'The Commoner' that I got what money and property I have," Mr. Bryan answered, in substance. "Will Mr. Cannon now tell the people how he amassed his wealth? He has been hampered more or less by official duties during his term of service in the congress, yet in spite of that obstacle, he is commonly presumed to possess considerable of this world's goods."

Now "Uncle Joe's" Turn.

None will deny that it is now Uncle Joe's turn to take the people into his confidence. Down in Danville, it is true that Mr. Cannon and his brother as bankers are thought each to have amassed much more than $1,000,000. Certainly, his credit in the financial world rests on the general belief that approximately that sum represents his earthly possessions.

If that be true, it is to be hoped that the speaker will give details as to how he got it. If it be untrue, then let him tell exactly how much he is worth, and of what his wealth consists, and follow Mr. Bryan's example in taking the people into his confidence.

Mr. Cannon cannot gracefully refuse to do this. For he himself invited the demand now made on him.

GRAND DEMONSTRATION

Mr. Bryan was not at his best last night. He seemed to be tired, and those who have followed his tour said that he was not as coherent or logical as he has been in many other places, but the crowd thought his effort was great, and at times they fairly rent the roof with noisy approval. The first real demonstration was when he took up the labor question, and from that moment there was hardly a sentence that did not bring the crowd to vigorous applause.

An attempt was made to make Mr. Bryan answer a series of questions handed to him by a Socialist woman, Edna Ohnstein. He took the paper, but went on with his speech. A man in the gallery cried, "Answer the questions," and Mr. Bryan replied, "If you want to make a speech hire your own hall."

This was the only interruption in a speech that lasted two hours, during which not one in that densely-packed throng moved. They seemed to be under some spell, and until the orator made his peroration there was not the slightest evidence of restlessness or disorder.

Particularly when he referred to the "amiable" Mr. Taft in contrast with the "strenuous" Mr. Roosevelt did the throng howl its indorsement. It was the first time that Mr. Bryan went after the President without gloves, and he used all his dramatic power and the fire of his eloquence in doing it. With a burst of forensic splendor that filled the hall he shouted:

"With you rests the question which party shall control the government for the next four years, and as Mr. Taft represents his party and I represent mine, the question is whether he or I shall occupy this position."

"You need not worry about the ambitions of either of us. I have criticised the President for his interference. He has been talking for seven years about a square deal. I want him to give me a square deal. He has already interfered with the freedom of action of his own party; he has already assumed to dictate to his party who its nominee should be, and now he attempts to take an office that belongs to all the people and make it a party asset of one party."

"The American people have a right to choose their chief executive. The American people have a right to do it without influence from the executive. If I am elected President I am sanguine in the belief that my administration will be so successful that it will not be necessary for me to pick out a successor."

Such a tumult of applause has seldom been heard. Everybody joined in. Seeing the advantage he had gained, and that his stand met with the unanimous favor of Cincinnati people, the Nebraskan followed it up with a few more raps at Mr. Roosevelt that were every one a bull's-eye.

CLASH

LIABLE TO OCCUR BETWEEN THE FRESHMEN AND SOPHS OF DENISON.

Interesting Meeting of the Travelers' Club—News of Granville and Vicinity.

Granville, O., Sept. 25.—Threatening clouds have again appeared on the horizon and the indications are that a clash between the warring Sophomores and Freshmen is imminent. Thursday night the Freshmen in retaliation for the slurs that had been cast upon them by the Sophs, posted the following in conspicuous place all over the town:

"You bigoted Sophs. You scavengers of the earth. You egotistical know-nothings. Sit up and take notice. You talk too much and do too little. Read this:

"Last Tuesday you had the audacity to dictate what the future conduct of the honorable class of 1912 should be. The class of 1912 now answers your infamous poster. We defy each and every rule laid down by you, and we will continue to act as though you did not exist. Your rule 11 speaks of being in bed at 8:30. Ask W. P. Huffman, Sperry or Chamberlain when the Freshmen go to bed. Your rule 5 forbids us to go with unshaven faces. What do you think of the beards your superiors are flaunting before you. You are a set of cowards from beginning to end. Your only means of intimidation is a bluff. Your re-election of Wyeth shows your helplessness. Before many moons we shall see you on your knees before us, asking for mercy. But when hills exist without valleys, when pigs grow feathers and geese have horns, when water is no longer wet, when the impudent Sophs acquire common sense, then, and not till then, will the right honorable class of 1912 deign to listen to your petition."

If the enthusiasm that characterized the opening meeting of the Travelers' club this week is any indication, the club is to have a most prosperous season, under the guidance of the efficient president, Mrs. C. J. Baldwin. After roll call Mrs. Baldwin gave a little talk after which Mrs. C. J. Rose delivered an entertaining address on Arabia and the Arabians. Another interesting feature of the meeting was the reading of a paper on the "Sinaitic Peninsula," by Mrs. Griffith. The club will travel in Arabia and Palestine this winter, and some interesting talks and papers are expected.

The membership of the Methodist church is exceedingly pleased over the return to this charge of the Rev. Mr. Miller, who has, so efficiently, filled the position of pastor of this church.

Considerable interest is being manifested as to the outcome of the football game to be played by Denison with Washington-Jefferson team at Washington, Pa., tomorrow. A great game is expected, but the boys have confidence in our team and are making arrangements to give the players a warm greeting on their return to Granville. The Denison team left for Washington Friday morning.

Young Democrats of Granville, why not organize a First Voters club? Wake up, boys and set the ball rolling. Such a club ought to be organized by the young voters of Granville without any trouble.

Regular services will be held at the Methodist church Sunday. The subject for the morning sermon will be "Urgency of the King's Business," and in the evening the subject will be "A Sermon to the Epworth League." Class meeting at 9:30 a. m. Sunday school at 11 a. m. Junior league at 2:30 p. m. Epworth league at 6:15 p. m. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

Reports are being received here daily from all parts of the township of the drought ravages. The supply of water is getting lower day by day and a number of farmers in the vicinity of Granville are already in real distress on account of the shortage.

The Rev. J. H. Doan, archdeacon, will preach in the Episcopal church this evening at 7 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Rev. C. E. Lowmie of Pomeroy, will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church Sunday, September 27. He will preach at both the morning and evening services.

PENNANT

Races in Both American and National Leagues Still Exciting With Leading Teams Bunched.

The fighting for the National and American league pennants is harder now than at any time this season, and daily the interest in the two fights is increasing. In the National league, the fight is closer now than it was two weeks ago, and McGraw's Giants do not hold the lead they did then, although they are still in first place. Chicago and Pittsburgh are tied at .625, 13 points behind the Giants. Cincinnati is dragging along in her same old position, though the Reds are making a fight to land in the .500 division before the season closes.

The Cleveland Naps are still on top of the heap in the American races, although but 10 points separate them from Chicago who is traveling at .556 while the Detroit Tigers are but two points behind the White Sox. St. Louis is not out of the race by any manner of means and but 16 points separate them from the Cleveland team. The local fans are universal in their hopes for the Naps winning the flag, though in the National league several teams are favorites with New York being looked upon as a winner.

A LESSON IN DETECTIVE WORK.

(Original.)

How did I happen to go into the detective line? I was put in it by a singular coincidence. I had no more idea of being a detective than being president of the United States. I never developed any fancy for such work, never read detective stories or took any interest in the methods of how real cases were managed. What I did hear of such matters they filled me with a belief that this business of noticing how far a match was burned or which end of a cigarette was lighted first to gain a clew had nothing to do with tracing criminals.

One day I was in a street car going home from a bank where I was employed on a fairly good salary when I saw a man rumble in his pocket for change to pay his fare. A few minutes later a woman picked up a folded bill off the floor and handed it to him, asking him if he hadn't dropped it. He unfolded it, cast a glance at it, paled slightly and handed it back to her in a hurry, denying the ownership. The woman asked one or two people sitting near if they had dropped it, but they all said they thought they had not. I asked the woman to let me see it. It didn't take me long, backed by my banking experience, to decide that it was counterfeit.

This was the first time I ever showed a faculty for detective work. I noticed that no one showed any unusual emotion in looking at the bill except the man who was supposed to have dropped it; therefore there was a probability that he was a counterfeiter. But I said nothing, simply handing it back to the woman.

But my curiosity had been aroused. Curious to follow up the matter, when the man who had paled got out I got out, too, and followed him at a distance. He entered a hardware store, where he purchased several articles. I didn't know what they were, but one of them was a hammer with a big end suitable for beating anything flat. Another was a crucible for melting metals. When he went out I snatched the bill he had paid the salesman, expecting to see a counterfeiter, but in this I was disappointed. It was good money.

Well, I tracked the fellow to a room at the top of a business building, where he had a shop. I knocked at the door. He opened it, but did not bid me enter. I told him I had something to say to him and wished to go inside. He said he was making a certain contrivance that was not yet patented and no one was allowed to enter the premises where the work was done.

Mind you, I was no detective. I was merely indulging my curiosity. A detective would have gone away and come again prepared to act as an officer of the law. I simply accused the man of counterfeiting, stating what I had seen in the car.

He stood looking at me a few moments appalled, then said, "What's Moll Brown going to give you for helping her?"

"I don't know Moll Brown," I replied, "and I'm in no one's employ in this matter. I'm only doing it for fun."

"Come in here and satisfy yourself," he said.

I went in and found an article for sweeping floors manufactured and in process of making. Then he explained: "Moll Brown was the woman who tried to fix the counterfeit bill on me. I was intimate with her once and was to have married her, but I found out she was bad and shook her. She's sworn to have her revenge."

Resolved to follow the matter up, I took Moll Brown's address. I felt sure she had got the counterfeit bill from some one interested in making or passing it, or both, and couldn't refrain from getting at the bottom of the matter. I cooked up a reason for making her acquaintance and went to see her. At this point I began some real detective work. I got her confidence and told her that I was looking for some easy way of making money. After a good deal of beating about the bush she agreed to tell me where I could get some "queer" to put out and gave me the address of the man I had shadowed. I didn't want any better proof of his story. She was bent on his ruin and would have included me if it suited her convenience. I delayed about going to the man she named and continued to watch her.

Accident helped me. One evening when I visited her a man called on her whom I spotted at once. I went away, leaving him with her, and when he came out shadowed him. He went to a place that I fancied, putting this and that together, might be a den of counterfeiters. I put the police on to the matter. They surrounded the building where the supposed den was, then closed in and, sure enough, trapped a party at work making spurious bills.

If the woman in their secret had not been bent on getting revenge, they might all have been making false money to this day. The woman was convicted with the rest, and the man she tried to injure was the most grateful fellow to me you ever saw. As for me, well, having got a taste for detective work, I accepted a position in an agency.

The case has influenced all my subsequent work. I never consider a clew, especially one that seems very plain, of much value until I have proved it to be such. What I rely on most is the want of stamina among those who are guilty of crime in standing by each other. Another valuable lesson I learned from the case is that revenge often plays an important part in fixing crime both where it is and where it is not.

TORTURING ANIMALS TO ASSIST SCIENCE

Is a Cruel Method to Follow, But It Has Saved Many Human Lives.

Prof. Pawlow, of Russia, was engaged for many years in experimental work, trying to learn the workings of digestion, especially the digestive glands.

He, with able assistants, operated upon dogs, cats, guinea pigs and other animals. His methods were seemingly painful, but he gave to science a work which won the Nobel prize and made for him an undying fame.

Science penetrated the secrets of nature. Prof. Pawlow saw animals digest food. He analyzed juice from every part of the digestive canal and stomach under all conditions of digestion. He spent years of ceaseless study amid the howling and dying beasts, but he won, and science today looks upon him as a great man.

"To do a great right do a little wrong," Shakespeare said, and Prof. Pawlow obeyed this trite saying.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are prepared by the most scientific process. They are produced by modern appliances, and meet the demand of 20th century chemistry.

They give man the means to correct his infirmities of stomach and digestive organs.

They enrich the blood, give nature the juices and fluids she lacks, stop the formation of noxious gases and the fermentation of food. They neutralize powerful acids and alkalis, which irritate and devour the stomach. They prevent and relieve bowels and intestinal trouble and soothe the nerves.

They should be used after every meal, whether one has dyspepsia and stomach trouble or the stomach be naturally healthy. By their use one may eat at all hours and whatever one desires and they help the system digest or throw off such food. They are thoroughly meritorious as their tremendous sale and popularity illustrate.

Every drug store has them for sale, price 50c per package. If you would like to test their merits free, send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail without cost. Address F. A. Stuart, Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

TRIOLET.
YOU lowered your eyes and whistled
When first I came to woo.
You fawn would just with me, and so
You lowered your eyes and whistled
"No."
But 'twas so soft and sweet and low
I dared to say, "Dost mean it, true?"
You lowered your eyes and whistled
"No."

A LITTLE DUTCH GARDEN.
I PASSED by a garden, a little Dutch garden,
Where useful and pretty things grew—
Heartsease and tomatoes and pinks and
And lilacs and onions and rue.

I SAW in that garden, that little Dutch garden,
A chubby Dutch man with a sprig
And a rosy Dutch frau with a shoe like a scow
And a flaxen haired little Dutch maid.

THERE grew in that garden, that little Dutch garden,
Blue flag flowers lovely and tall
And early bluish roses and little pink posies.
But Gretchen was fairer than all.

MY heart's in that garden, that little Dutch garden,
It tumbled right in, as I passed,
Mid 'wildering mazes of spinach and daisies,
And Gretchen is holding it fast.

HARPS HUNG UP IN BABYLON.
THE harps hung up in Babylon—
Their loosened strings rang on,
sang on,
And cast their murmurs forth upon

The roll and roar of Babylon:
"Forget me, Lord, if I forget
Jerusalem for Babylon,
If I forget the vision set
High as the head of Lebanon
To lift our heads as Syria yet,
If I forget and how we came down
To brutish gods of Babylon."

Two rivers to each other run
In the very midst of Babylon,
And swifter than their current fleets
The restless river of the streets
Of Babylon, of Babylon,
And Babylon's towers smite the sky,
But higher reaches the wild harp's range.
To Zion's walls their smitten clang,
And, lo, of Babylon they sang!
They only sang of Babylon:
"Jehovah, round whose throne of awe
The angels stand, their orbits draw
Within the circle of thy law,
Canst thou make nothing what is done
Or cause thy servant to be one
That has not been in Babylon,
That has not known the power and
The subtle gods of Babylon."

The harps hung up in Babylon
Hung silent till the prophet dawn,
When Judah's feet the highway burned
Back to the holy hills returned
And shook their dust on Babylon.
In Zion's walls the wild harp's rang.
To Zion's walls their smitten clang,
And, lo, of Babylon they sang!
They only sang of Babylon:
"Jehovah, round whose throne of awe
The angels stand, their orbits draw
Within the circle of thy law,
Canst thou make nothing what is done
Or cause thy servant to be one
That has not been in Babylon,
That has not known the power and
The subtle gods of Babylon."

Of life poured out like driven rain?
I will go down and find again
My soul that's lost in Babylon."

RETURN.
I SAID I had forgotten her,
That I had put her away,
Our memories of paradise
Until the judgment day;

THAT nevermore the laughing earth
Should see us hand in hand;
That I long since had shut the door
Of our old fairyland.

THEN on a sudden came strange news
Upon the gossip wind:
My love of those sweet years ago—
Great God! My love was blind!

I SAID the news must be a lie.
I, cruel as are the years,
They could not be so merciless
To such great eyes as hers.

OH, little child of long ago,
God grant the news untrue,
Except for one strong selfish thought—
That I may come to you

AND sit beside you in the dark
And, as in paradise
I gave you all my breaking heart,
Now bring to you my eyes.

Oh, London, your bridges and towers,
Your palaces and your docks,

The baby is building with blocks!

Oh, China, your wall is a fragment!
Oh, India, shame on your Taj!
Oh, Titus, your vast coliseum
Is only a fleeting musing—
Columbia, all your skyscrapers,
Your subways, an architect mocks.
For here on the floor of the playground
The baby is building with blocks!

Oh, Solomon, wisest of sages,
Who cares for that temple of yours?
Oh, Epheusus, great was Diana,
But out of her glory endures
Oh, Babylon, gone are your gardens!
Oh, Druids, your domes of rocks
Arouse in us only derision—
The baby is building with blocks!

TEN YEARS IN TORMENT

Wonderful Escape from Torture

While the Root Juice demonstrations were being conducted at Lafayette, Ind., Mr. A. C. Roberts, a traveling man, rushed in to the drug store and grabbed the scientist by the hand and said: "There is no man on earth whom I would rather shake hands with than yourself. Through your great discovery I made a wonderful escape from torment. This world was a perfect torture for me for over ten years. Every dollar I could rake and scrape I gave to doctors and paid for medicine without anything more than momentary relief. My principle troubles were in my stomach, bowels and back. My kidneys gave me so much trouble I had to get up from ten to fifteen times a night, and if red-hot coals were kept on my back I don't believe I would have suffered any more. The doctors said my stomach was lined with gastric ulcers. One bite of solid food would put me in misery. I was dyspeptic, constipated, salivary, weak and nervous all the time, but the first bottle of Root Juice made a wonderful change for the better in my condition. I took about five bottles of the Juice and I don't believe that an angel from heaven could be any happier than I am now. I feel like a new being, both mentally and physically, and will never stop praising Root Juice as long as I live." The Juice has made scores of cures here, as anyone can learn by going to the nicker coffee urn, stone fruit jars,

THROAT TROUBLE

IS GREATLY HANDICAPPING MR. TAFT IN HIS PRESENT TOUR IN THE WEST.

Can Only Speak for Few Minutes at a Time and Substitutes Are Doing the Work.

Clinton, Iowa, Sept. 5.—Judge Taft began his trip through Iowa today, handicapped by throat trouble that prevented him speaking more than a few minutes at any stop.

As a result the spellbinders that are accompanying him are doing the bulk of the talking. The throat specialist with the party is working with Mr. Taft and hopes to have him all right in a day or two.

In order to give the candidate all voice rest possible, other talkers who ate with him, Rev. John Wesley Hill of New York, and Congressman Boulet of Illinois, will do most of the talking from the rear platform of the train. Judge Taft will show himself, the other two spellbinders will talk most of the time, and then a minute before the train pulls out the candidate will be formally introduced and say a few words. Immediately after the special leaves town, Dr. Richardson takes charge of Taft and whisks him into his stateroom. There the candidate's throat is given a thorough treatment.

Taft talked of the labor question in

Naphtha Soaps Are Not "All Alike"

They resemble one another in only one respect—they contain naphtha.

But naphtha is not the "whole thing," even in naphtha soaps. The quality of the soap with which the naphtha is combined is just as important—more so, in fact, because it is soap, not naphtha, that CLEANS.

Naphtha loosens the dirt. Soap cleans.

Now, the naphtha in P. & G. Naphtha Soap is identical with that used in other naphtha soaps.

But the soap is not the same. It is better. It is harder. It lasts longer. It does more work. It does better work—does it easier, QUICKER.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is white—because of the coconut oil in it. Other naphtha soaps are yellow—too much rosin in them.

"The color tells the story."

We especially noticed a stunning hat of ecrú with broad black wings; also one of light blue satin with white plumes for the dressier occasions. Another was a black hat with exquisitely embroidered band and magnificent willow plume. There were some beauties trimmed with roses. The new taupe colors were in evidence. TONE UP THE STOMACH

Get Rid of the Gas, Headaches and Dizziness.

The symptoms of stomach trouble vary. Some victims have a ravenous appetite, some loathe the sight of food. Often there is a feeling as of weight on the chest, a full feeling in the throat. Sometimes the gas presses on the heart and leads the sufferer to think he has heart disease. Sick headache is a frequent and distressing symptom.

A very delicate stomach requires easily digested food, but nature never intended that the food should be digested before it is eaten. The stomach must be strengthened to perform its own work and what it needs is not food already digested but a tonic. The processes of digestion are controlled by the blood and nerves, and medical science has produced no better digestive tonic than
